La città libera is a performative installation that aims to explore a participatory "off-grid neighbourhood" architectural taxonomy. La città libera is a pre-design tool to inspire the public's imagination to develop participative self-sufficient urbanization layout.

Participants will "develop" an urban plot and explore how collaborative development can maximize self-sufficient strategies and solutions. La città libera is designed to engage the broad audience of architecture to explore and push forward the long tradition of hi-quality yet affordable dwelling solutions, tuned on today's urban challenges.
